May 2010 is Building Safety Month.

Building Safety Month is sponsored by the International Code Council Foundation (ICCF) which is a subsidiary of the International Code Council (ICC), a membership association dedicated to building safety and fire prevention. It is now a fact that most cities, counties and states that adopt codes choose the International Codes developed by the ICC.

For the first time, the International Code Council (ICC) and International Code Council Foundation (ICCF) has expanded Building Safety Week into a month-long Building Safety Month campaign to expand opportunities and increase awareness about the critical importance of building and designing safe, sustainable and green structures in the United States and worldwide. As part of this expanded effort, the ICC and ICCF will work with millennium sponsor BASF to generate awareness about the progress made during the past 30 years. Building Safety Month will also showcase historic milestones, current technologies and future innovations in building and fire codes as well as construction and safety technologies.

Taking a look at the past, present and future will be a catalyst for communicating the critical role of building and fire codes in maintaining safe and sustainable environments. Moreover, Building Safety Month will demonstrate the leadership role that code officials play in protecting families and individuals who live, work and play in buildings around the globe.

There are many printed and visual materials available via download at www.buildingsafetymonth.org.

The foundation (ICCF) has created 2 new printed items and many others based on feedback from ICC members who requested updated content and promotional tools for use during Building Safety Month and all year long.

Three new social media tools now exist including Facebook, Twitter and the "I Support" campaign. Click on www.buildingsafetymonth.org and go to the bottom of the homepage to participate in any or all.

Thank you in advance for your support of Building Safety Month and for all that you do for building safety and sustainability each and every day.

Education Chairman
